

Cissy Geigerman Watercolor Artist

Cissy Geigerman is originally from Atlanta Ga. She worked as a medical laboratory scientist and fossil conservator. In 2016, the coloring book craze inspired her to reach further into watercolor painting.

Her favorite subjects are landscapes and architecture. Also, outdoor painting has been a wonderful way to cope with the recent events that have confined us.

She is active in the Houston Urban Sketchers Group, the Woodlands Art League (WAL), and the Watercolor Society of Houston (WAS-H). Her work has been recognized for placement in recent exhibits, including 1st place for an outdoor painting competition sponsored by WAL.
